Please elaborate on your previous response:

- I've never had a teacher this good at preparing for a class. usually when a teacher is preparing for a class they have lectures broken down by the chapter and they get through what they can in a day. However, He has it broken down by the day so you can easily prepare for or review the class by going through the slides, he also always records the lectures and makes it available live for students who cannot make it in.

It is not possible to capture every nuance of effective teaching in a short survey. In the box below, please describe things your instructor did that were especially effective in helping you learn the material.

- He always held my attention very well, He made economics interesting and honestly made me want to switch my minor, not sure if I will but he made the concepts so easy to understand and was very good about every thing he was teaching, overall I am so grateful I had him as my teacher this year.
- He created a friendly environment in the class room that allowed students to freely ask questions. He also made things very simple to understand and follow.
- Professor He was always available via office hours, zoom, or email. He was always willing to help with any questions you might have and always explained it so well.
- Professor He was incredible this semester. He did a fantastic job at showing real life examples of the material taught in class and created understandable analogies to help show the application of what we were learning. He also invited students to participate often and always made sure to clear up any confusion about the topics being discussed. Professor He has a very inviting personality and a strong passion for economics that makes coming to class enjoyable and rewarding.
- He always went over teach concept multiple times. This was very helpful for me, as I am one who learns almost exclusively from experience. He never made you feel lesser than him or anyone else even if you didn't understand. He had no issue explaining things as many times as needed. He was also very reasonable throughout the semester about ways to improve grades.
- I've taken many Econ classes and I'm always confuse and he made it make sense! I think breaking it down into math that we learned early in school. $Y=mx+b$ is very helpful
- I felt like the professor cared about the students. He worked hard to make sure he was doing a good job. He did a great job relating the topics in class to the real world. The professor did a great job involving the class and encouraging participation.
- Professor He presented and taught the material in a manner that anyone would be able to understand. He understood that his students learn in different ways and may need a refresher in the prerequisite courses. To me, this shows how exceptional he is as a professor but also as a person. In addition, Professor He allows encouraged us to engage in discussion, come to his office hours, or come to his TA's office hours. Professor He gave us ample resources to succeed in this class but most importantly, he taught us how this course relates to the real-world. I have had Professor He for two semesters now and I can confidently say that he's quality level of teaching is beyond exceptional and I hope that he is able to teach more economic courses. I really enjoyed his class as he provided us with examples that relate to interesting topics!
- Organized lectures and material customized to the students in each class. Encouraging participation and thanking students. Offering many opportunities to learn the material inside and outside of class. Review slides and practice questions before each lecture.

What were the most beneficial aspects of the course?

- content piqued my interest.
- I gained a greater understanding about economics as well as the business world.
- Professor He's review sessions before the exams and the numerous study helps for each exam as well.
- I would say the most beneficial aspects of this course were the topics discussing opportunity costs and how to understand behavior of different markets in the real world with things like elasticity.
- Lots of chances to learn how real world businesses operate
- The connections between each topic
- I feel that the aspects of micro Economics is now applicable to my job.
- Learning how to apply these concepts to real life situations. In addition, I liked how he gave us an opportunity to refute the answers to the exams if we got the question incorrect. This displayed his understanding that some questions are often subjective.
- The pace at which Professor He taught. Writing clearly and at a good pace for taking notes. Simple explanations and consistent symbols and terms used throughout the semester.

What is one thing you would change about the course to improve the learning experience?

- some of the lecture recordings he wrote on the board and you couldn't see the board because it was on screen share, I think if there was a way to see everything it might be easier to follow along. and not all of the recordings even just some of them were like this.
- Nothing.
- N/A, Professor He is the best Econ professor I have had at SUU and would willing take another course from him.
- I wouldn't change a thing.
- Having a textbook would have been nice, but he did a great job without one as well.
- More practice problems that the professor then walks through
- my only suggestion is would be a special project that can relate to how econ effects us everyday.
- One thing that I would change is the quality for the zoom recordings.
- Slightly more time at the first of the class to review material from the previous class and weekly reviews of where we are in terms of the whole course.
